Michigan Industry
Foresees Losses

By MARION BURSON
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Bennett (R-Mich.) said today he will vote against a bill to lift the two cents a pound copper import duty again.

But he conceded that the measure by Rep. Mills (D-Ark.) is "more fair and equitable" to the United States copper producers than similar legislation in the past.

Market Price Assured
It would give producers "an assured market at 24 cents a pound, a feature never before included in suspension bills," Bennett said in an interview.

Cleared by the rules committee, the bill now goes before the House and may be voted on this week.

Those in favor of taking off the duty contend that copper imports should be encouraged to relieve a shortage of the metal.

Copper state congressmen traditionally oppose removing the tax on the ground that it is needed to prevent sharp price declines and possible mine shutdowns.

Bennett said that suspension of the tax for three years until July, 1950, "almost wrecked" the Michigan copper industry, currently

Chicago Mayor Is Reelected

Republican Trails
By 152,545 Votes

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Democratic party's 20-year rule of Chicago's city hall remained unbroken today with the reelection of Mayor Martin H. Kennelly.

Kennelly won his second four-year term in yesterday's city election, defeating his Republican challenger, Robert L. Hunter, by 152,545 votes. He never trailed during the counting of the 1,265,074 votes cast.

The mayoralty race, watched with interest nationally for political trends, drew 60 per cent of the city's registered voters to the polls.

Kennelly, 63-year-old bachelor, polled 697,871 votes. Hunter, 52, a lawyer making his first bid for a major elective office, received 545,326 votes.

It was the sixth/straight time the Democrats have won the mayoralty contest. The last Republican mayor was the late William Hale (Big Bill) Thompson, who was defeated in 1931 by the late Anton J. Cermak.

The Democrats also have control of the city council, although Republicans won three of the five runoff elections yesterday. The makeup of the council will be 33 Democrats, 16 Republicans and one Independent. The Democrats won 31 of 45 races in the Feb. 27 aldermanic elections.

Democrats also were winners in the races for three other city offices, clerk, treasurer and municipal court judge.

Government Orders Word Liver Taken Out Of Carter Pills

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government wants to take the word "Liver" out of Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Carter's Products, Inc., of New York, the manufacturer, objects and says the company will test in the courts an order issued yesterday by the Federal Trade commission.

The commission also ordered the company to stop what it called misleading advertising claims to the effect that the pills are an effective treatment for a sluggish liver.

"Carter's Little Liver Pills were and are * * * nothing more than an irritative laxative compound," the commission said.

Stabilizer Drafts New Master Plan To Beat Inflation

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration was reported ready today with a tentative new master plan to smother inflation with interlocking business, farm and labor price controls.

Simultaneously, President Truman appeared set to take personal charge of the effort to woo labor back as an active element in the mobilization command.

Closes Up Leaks
Mr. Truman arranged to meet with the United Labor Policy committee, representing most principal unions, at the White House tomorrow.

Well-placed officials said Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has worked out the following tentative plan to close leaks in the anti-inflation dikes:

(1) To set an over-all limit on industry's profits; (2) To end cost-of-living wage increases on June 30; and (3) To freeze the "parity" formula by which farm prices are set.

Niece Has Wrangle With Col. McCormick, Resigns As Editor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mrs. Ruth McCormick (Bazy) Miller has resigned as editor in charge of the Washington Times-Herald because she says, of "a wrangle" with Col. Robert R. McCormick, the newspaper's president.

Mrs. Miller said the association with Colonel McCormick, her uncle, "has not been a wrangle until recently," and she added: "I respect his views but I do not feel he has given sufficient respect to mine."

Colonel McCormick, president and publisher of the Chicago Tribune, which owns the Times-Herald, said through the Tribune he would have no comment. He said he planned to come to Washington tonight to take charge of the Times-Herald.

Mrs. Miller became editor of the paper in August, 1949, at the age of 28. The Tribune had just bought it for $4,500,000 from seven Times-Herald executives to whom it had been willed by Mrs. Eleanor (Cissie) Patterson upon her death a year earlier. Mrs. Patterson was a cousin of Colonel McCormick.

Mrs. Miller announced her resignation in a notice posted yesterday in the Times-Herald office. Later she said in an interview in Chicago that she did not get the kind of backing she felt she should have in (1) combating a suit filed by Columnist Drew Pearson charging the Times-Herald and others with restraint of trade, and (2) in a Senate subcommittee's investigation of last fall's Maryland senatorial race, for which the Times-Herald printed some material used in the successful campaign of Senator John M. Butler (R-Md.).

"Differences may have resulted from the 40 years difference in our ages," Mrs. Miller continued. "I like all the people he likes but I like some more. Colonel McCormick has pretty much been stultifying my efforts."

On the same slate with Reuther were secretary-treasurer Emil Mazey and vice presidents Richard T. Gosser and John W. Livingston.

Election of 19 regional directors was scheduled for later in the day. There was no other business on the day's program.

The anti-Reuther faction has been able to muster only about 10 per cent of the votes on most convention issues so far, it was doubtful that it could do any better on the elections.

Reuther's power has grown steadily since he first was elected head of the 1,250,000-member union in Atlantic City in 1946. In that year three anti-Reuther leaders were given the other top offices, making most union affairs a factional standoff.

But the following year Mazey, Gosser and Livingston were swept into office with Reuther, giving him control at the top level for the first time. Since then the 43-year-old labor leader has tightened his control to the point where his ambitious program goes virtually unchallenged.

Reduced Draft Quota System Considered

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A plan is in the works to reduce draft calls in states where the National Guard and large numbers of reserves have been called to active duty.

Senator Monroney (D-Okla.) said last night selective service had advised him the new plan would go into effect in June.

Draft officials confirmed the plan had been under active consideration. But they said they did not know whether Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, had approved it. Hershey could not be reached.

Iron Lung Fails

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — The use of an iron lung failed Tuesday to save the life of 12-year-old Donald Scheele. He suffered chest injuries when struck from his bicycle by a car. He was placed in the lung but soon died.

Johnston's idea, the officials said, is to put an end to "catch-up" jockeying by business, agriculture and labor resulting in a never-ending, inflationary, spiral. Labor's representatives have refrained from participating in the mobilization program for nearly two months. Their gripe has been that big business is running the government's economic show, that wage controls have been too strict in relation to controls over prices, and that labor has been left out in framing big decisions.

Program Stymied
All this has been denied by the administration's mobilization chiefs. But, meanwhile, the wage control program is stymied because the union chiefs won't go along.

Charles E. Wilson, the defense mobilization chief, is reported considering, after repeated overtures to heal the breach with the unions, a move to set up a labor stabilization board made up entirely of public members.

Dr. Thurston, a non-political politician if there ever was one, rolled up the biggest vote on the G. O. P. ticket, even carrying Wayne county, the first time a similar official has done that since 1947.

Senator Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo) summed up the Republican reaction on the Senate floor yesterday.

Williams' accusation that Dr. Thurston was guilty of a whitewash or sloppy investigation in Litchfield was, Morris said, a "misrepresentation composed of three parts lies and one part half-truth."

Morris said "in the future I want to be handed no more of his (Williams) bipartisan double-talk. x x x he is about as bipartisan as a fox in a henhouse."

Poor Election Showing Made By Democrats

Wayne County Lost
In Some Spots

By JACK I. GREEN

DETROIT — (AP) — Republicans crowded today that Governor Williams' last-minute attack on the state school head only added to their full-length victory in Monday's spring election.

The Democratic high command puzzled over the election returns, stunned by their failure to make much dent in the G. O. P. organizational strength and the fact that they even lost Wayne county in some spots.

The Republicans said the voters had "vindicated" Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, whom Williams singled out for a weekend attack for his handling of the Litchfield school roll padding case.

Annex To Reopen

BATTLE CREEK — (AP) — Percy Jones Army hospital has been authorized by the surgeon general's office to reopen the 100-bed annex at Gull Lake. The annex formerly was the residence of W. K. Kellogg. During the war it was used for a time as a boot training camp by the Coast Guard and later was taken over by the hospital.

Ozark Farmer Kills 4 Through Window

CONWAY, Mo. — (AP) — A 23-year-old farm boy admitted pumping a volley of shots through an Ozarks farmhouse window and killing four persons.

Sheriff E. I. Cunningham said Kenneth Essery, who lives near the scene of the slayings, was arrested early today and admitted the shootings.

The slaying occurred last night about four miles southeast of here in the Ozark hills of southern Missouri.

Four persons who responded to a call for aid from the farm family also were fired on. One of the four was wounded.

Prosecuting Attorney John Hosmer said Essery declined to give a reason for the shootings. No charges were filed pending further questioning.

The dead were William Shockley 43; his wife, Clara, 44; their daughter, Helen, 16; and Shockley's mother, Mrs. Gus Shockley, 73.

Six other Shockley children ranging in age from 10 months to 14 years were asleep in upstairs rooms. Awakened by the shots and screams, 10-year-old Mary Ellen Shockley ran downstairs and called a neighbor for help.

Sheriff E. I. Cunningham said that when the neighbor, Luke O'Connor, and his wife drove in to the farm yard in their pickup truck, 11 or 12 shots were fired at them. O'Connor suffered an arm wound. The car's windshield was shattered, outing Mrs. O'Connor

Clubber Found Guilty By Jury

Detroit Man Weeps
At Murder Trial

DETROIT — (AP) — A tobacco salesman who went berserk and clubbed six persons, one fatally, here last Oct. 13 was convicted of manslaughter at his first degree murder trial last night.

Ennis V. Gillum, Jr., 26, who had weeping spells during the trial, heard the verdict with a poker face. He was tried for the murder of Mrs. Dorothy Julien, 47.

Five other persons were injured in the salesman's drunken rampage that terrorized northwest Detroit.

A jury of nine women and three men deliberated more than three hours. The decision came after Judge Frank G. Schemanske instructed them they must rule out first degree murder if they believed Gillum was drunk when the killing occurred.

"It was a fair trial and thank God it's over," Gillum said. His attorney said, however, would be an appeal. The defense claimed temporary insanity.

Gillum faces a sentence ranging from probation to 15 years in prison. Judge Schemanske set sentencing for April 17.

Ex-Convict Frees Kidnaped Girl, 16, In East Oklahoma

MCALISTER, Okla. — (AP) — Sixteen year old Jackie Parris was liberated early today from a 23-year old ex-convict who admitted to officers he abducted the girl and her high school skating date Sunday night.

The girl was found about 1 a. m. huddled beside a fire under a rock ledge atop Blue mountain in the San Bois range, nine miles south of Kinta. Kinta is 35 miles northeast of McAlester in eastern Oklahoma.

On the other side of the fire, his head buried in his hands, sat Robert M. Phillips, Pittsburgh county sheriff Bill Alexander had issued a warrant for his arrest on suspicion of kidnaping last night.

Phillips admitted to police chief Roy Anders that he took the girl to a shack and molested her. But he said he never actually harmed her.

Bill Coghill, 17, the girl's high school sweetheart, swung at Phillips but was restrained by officers when the two came face to face at the county jail here.

Coghill was parked with the girl outside a McAlester skating rink Sunday night when a man forced himself into their car and made them drive to Kinta and the abductor walked away with the girl, threatening Coghill who did not follow.

Albania Executes 30 For Bomb Plot

Athens, Greece — (AP) — A foreign ministry source said today 30 persons were executed in Communist-run Albania for the bomb explosion at the Soviet legation in Tirana, the capital, several weeks ago. This source said more than 300 persons were arrested and that the 30 were tried and shot the same day.

Allied Forces Punch Deeper In Red Korea

TOKYO — (AP) — An Allied task force drove four miles north of the Red Korean border today against heavy Communist resistance.

A field dispatch said the task force met heavy Red mortar fire and some artillery fire near Top-yong, four miles north of the border on the western front. But it drove ahead.

Another Allied force nearby punched two miles into Red Korea in the Yongpyong area.

Enemy Routed
Earlier reports said an American patrol had crossed parallel 38 on the central front and routed Chinese Reds from two hills.

The patrol was probing the outer areas of a huge Red buildup where almost one-half million Communist troops were massed for an expected Red offensive.

The strong force which crossed parallel 38 Tuesday along a 10 mile stretch of the western front withdrew by nightfall under heavy fire.

In the air, American Sabre jets destroyed one Russian-type MIG-15 jet fighter and damaged two others Wednesday in a swirling dogfight near the Manchurian border.

Other Allied planes ripped into Communist ground forces and supply lines. They destroyed four tanks, six trucks and five railroad cars in 270 sorties flown by noon.

Half Million Massed
From the central front came an ominous report that a large group of Reds was moving into the Communist buildup area north of 38.

Intelligence reports say there are now nearly 500,000 combat troops in this area, primed for the long-expected Red offensive. Korea's rainy spring weather and glue-like mud will favor the Reds. They may launch their greatest attack of the war any day now.

The big air battle was fought near Sinuiju south of the Yalu River. Twelve F-36 Sabre jets tangled with eight red-nosed MIGs. The Communists broke off and raced to refuge in their Manchurian sanctuary.

In scattered ground fighting on the western front, brief skirmishes were reported around Yonchon, which is six miles north of the border and 35 miles north of Seoul.

Christening.
Charles Haskill, president of Great Lakes Engineering, will supervise the launching.

The Vacationland will have a maximum width of 73½ feet. At the launching she'll slide into a slip which is only 105 feet wide.

The ferry, with twin propellers at each end, has four engines capable of 10,000 h.p. She is designed for loading at either end. She is expected to be ready to start her work in the straits by late summer.

The 200 men will drive wedges into the blocking under the ship to aid in a careful distribution of weight before her ten hawsers are cut simultaneously by electrically operated knives and she slides into the water.

The knives will fall at the moment Barbara Ann performs the christening.

The 331-foot Vacationland, which is to ply the Straits of Mackinac, will be launched at the Great Lakes Engineering Works at River Rouge. She will have a capacity of 180 vehicles and 650 passengers.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler's daughter, Barbara Ann, 14, will christen her. Her launching Saturday will be dramatic.

Approval Near On Troop Limit For Ike's Army

Reopening Of Senate
Vice Quiz Urged

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A House Democratic leader, popping into the opposition column, came out today for a draft bill shorn of its Universal Military Training section.

Rep. Barden, of North Carolina, chairman of the education and labor committee, thus joined a group of Republicans headed by Rep. Short, of Missouri, who say UMT has no place in the new draft bill. Short calls it a "shot-gun wedding."

Age Level Dropped
Besides setting up a long-range UMT program for training 18 year olds, the bill drops the draft age to 18 and a half and extends the period of service to 26 months.

UMT wouldn't start operating until after the present emergency is over and the draft itself can be stopped.

Despite Barden's opposition Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House armed services committee is confident the twin-purpose bill will get House approval.

The Senate has already passed a similar measure.

As debate on the House bill entered its second day, there was no sign that Republicans had eased their demands for writing into the bill a legal ban on the transfer of troops without Congressional approval to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army.

Only Advisory
That troop issue headed for a final vote in the Senate today. Only a few minor amendments—and some more oratory—stood between approval of a simple resolution, having no force in law, which would put the Senate on record as:

1. Approving President Truman's plan to send four U. S. Divisions to join the two already assigned to General Eisenhower.

2. Saying that no additional troops should be sent in peace-time.

College Student Draft Deferment Rules Announced

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Draft headquarters announced today that freshmen in the upper half, sophomores in the upper two thirds and juniors in the upper three fourths of their classes will be deferred during their next undergraduate years.

These collegians may also rate a deferment by scoring 70 on the forthcoming aptitude tests, selective service said.

Seniors planning graduate work will be deferred for a year if they either rank in the top half of their class or score 75 on the test.

The test, designed to measure ability to learn and not knowledge, will be given only to those already in college on May 26, June 16 and June 30.

Chicago Excited About Escanaba Smelt Again

Chicagoans got the smelting fever this week. The Chicago and North Western railway reports it is receiving reservations for the special smelt train that will be run to the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree on Saturday, April 14.

News stories sent from Escanaba were used by Chicago radio stations and newspapers on Monday and Tuesday and aroused much interest in the smelt runs.

Stories in the Chicago newspapers told of the plans being made by the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce to entertain the Chicagoans during the revival of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree.

Pictures of Mary Friets, recently elected queen of the Escanaba Smelt Jamboree, have been sent to Chicago, Milwaukee and Detroit newspapers, and are expected to appear within a few days.

Accident Occurs Near Green Bay

An accident Monday night near Green Bay, Wis., involving a semi-trailer truck of the Harnischfeger Corp., Milwaukee, caused damage estimated at $20,000. No one was hurt.

The truck, carrying 15 tons of steel and machinery parts, was en route to the firm's Escanaba plant. The driver, Arden Blackmore, 29, of Hales Corners, told authorities he was driving over a dip in highway 57, six miles south of Green Bay, when an automobile in front of him slowed down.

To avoid collision with the car, Blackmore headed for the ditch. The truck crashed into a tree. Part of the steel load landed in the cab but missed Blackmore. The rest was hurled out.

The trailer was wrecked by the impact. The driver of the automobile, William Heimerl, 25, De Pere, Wis., said he had slowed down to turn off to a side road. The damage was estimated by a Harnischfeger official.

Lake Vessels Need Licenses

Government Asks Boats Be Marked

Every vessel of five net tons or over, engaged in commercial fishing, carrying freight or passengers for hire, must be licensed by the U. S. customs office, according to an announcement from the U. S. treasury department.

The license granted to any commercial or pleasure vessel is good for one year. It must be surrendered for renewal or deposit to the nearest U. S. customs office within three days after its expiration. Failure to renew or deposit the license makes the master liable to a fine of ten dollars.

A license must be surrendered to a U. S. customs office in case of change in build, ownership, home port, trade, tonnage, engine, name; also when the renewal spaces are filled, or vessel is abandoned, destroyed or lost.

The name of every licensed vessel shall be marked upon each bow and upon the stern, and the home port shall also be marked upon the stern. These names shall be painted or gilded, or by use of individual Roman letters of not less than four inches in size.

The markings shall be made in a light color on a dark ground, or in a dark color on a light ground, and be distinctly visible.

Licensed pleasure vessels are also subject to all the requirements regarding marking, excepting that the name and home port may be marked on some conspicuous portion of their hulls.

Two Waterfowl Jobs Completed

One Flooding Project At Schoolcraft Lake

Max Wakeman, regional game supervisor, Department of Conservation, Marquette, reports that to date two waterfowl flooding projects have been completed in the Upper Peninsula with the use of Pittman-Robertson funds. These projects are initiated on certain areas to improve waterfowl food and nesting conditions. In many places, fishing and food and cover conditions for furbearers also benefit from these projects.

The first project which was completed was on the Potagannising river on Drummond island in Chippewa county. The dam was constructed at the site of an old logging dam. This old logging dam held back the water on the Potagannising river and for many years furnished excellent waterfowl nesting and shooting grounds, but in recent years the dam went out and the area became unsuitable for waterfowl. The new dam will flood approximately 570 acres and cost $5,285.00.

Schoolcraft County Lake

The second project recently completed is at the outlet of Stanley lake in the northeast part of Schoolcraft county. The new dam in this location is also constructed on the site of an old logging dam which was washed out. The new dam will raise the water level on Stanley lake and will flood approximately 125 acres of marshy land around the lake. The cost of the construction of this project was $5,737.00. Bids have been let for the construction of a dam on the Net river in the south part of Baraga county. The work on this dam will be started as soon as conditions permit this spring. Approximately 210 acres of marshy land along the river will be flooded at a cost of $10,885.00.

Preliminary plans have been approved by the conservation commission for a project on Hancock Creek in Dickinson county and the reconstruction of the dam on Walton Creek at the outlet of Hayward and North lakes in Menominee county. The Hancock Creek project will flood approximately 71 acres at a cost of $4,530.00. The reconstruction of the dam on Walton Creek at the outlet of North and Hayward lakes will stabilize the water levels on these two lakes and will flood an additional 750 acres. The approximate cost of this construction is $10,842.00.

Other Projects

Preliminary plans for flooding projects on Nestoria Creek in Keweenaw county and Morrison Creek in Gogebic county have been completed but have not as yet received approval from the conservation commission.

Fourteen other flooding projects are being considered in Luce, Gogebic, Iron, Schoolcraft, Houghton, Mackinac and Alger counties. Only preliminary plans for these projects have been worked up to date. As soon as engineering service is available, final plans for the projects will be worked up and the projects will be submitted to the Conservation commission for approval. Inasmuch as all of these projects are constructed from federal Pittman-Robertson funds, plans for the construction of the dams on all of the projects have to be approved by the Fish and Wildlife Service before any work can be done on them.

Rapid River PTA Planning Annual Spring Dance

RAPID RIVER — The Rapid River Rural Agricultural school PTA held its regular monthly meeting at the school Monday evening, April 2, and made plans for the annual spring dance to be held the week of May 7.

Mrs. Joe Casimir, president, was named chairman of the dance and she will appoint her committees at a later date. It was decided to solicit from members as usual and lunch tickets will be sold which also will admit the holders to the dance. A good orchestra will furnish the music and holding the dance the week of May 7 will permit the PTA to use the lovely decorations of the junior prom.

The next meeting of the PTA will be held Monday evening, April 30. It will be the last meeting of the school year and officers will be elected. The nominating committee is Mrs. Ned Short, Howard Koehn and Leslie Caswell.

The lunch committee for the next meeting is Mrs. Zeph Rushford, chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Mrs. Arnold Carlson, Mrs. Bob Roberts and Mrs. Howard Koehn.

TOO HIGH

Bird songs cannot be reproduced easily in musical notation because most of them sing above the highest note of the piano and do not follow human rules of composition, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Cells of human lungs, if spread out flat, would cover an area of 680 square feet.

AUGUSTANA CHOIR HERE THURSDAY NIGHT—The Augustana college choir will give a concert at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium at 8:15 Thursday evening. Ann Hendrickson of Escanaba, a member of the group, appears above in the first row, third from the left. Rev. Gustav Lund, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church reports a marked spurt in ticket sales for the event this week. Director of the choir is Brynolf Lundholm, dean of the Augustana school of music, who is directing the 1951 choir in the place of Henry Veld, the regular conductor who is on a year's leave of absence.

Air Pictures Are Archaeology Aid

LONDON — (AP) — New light is being thrown on to Dark Ages in Britain by aerial photography. Sites of a 2,000 year old Roman camp in south west Scotland have been revealed for the first time by the photographs. Previously, no one knew that the Romans had been there.

Dr. J.K.S. St. Joseph, curator in aerial photography Cambridge University, explained to the Royal Society of Arts that differences in colour and growth of vegetation shown in low altitude air photographs enabled ancient sites to be discovered and their character and period established.

He showed aerial archaeological photographs of Roman and earlier sites in Britain.

No Referendum on Water Bonds Means Big Savings For City

THE expiration of the 30 day period for filing petitions for a referendum on the city's water bond issue clears the way for action on the new water filtration plant. There never has been much cause for apprehension that a referendum would be forced because an advisory vote conducted last year was overwhelmingly in favor of the proposed construction of a new water plant and for the issuance of revenue bonds to pay the costs.

If a referendum had been forced on the $850,000 bond issue, the voters would surely have confirmed the results of the advisory vote of a year ago. But the necessity for a second vote would have meant a higher interest rate on the revenue bonds. It would also have materially delayed construction of the water plant and very likely would have resulted in increased construction costs, perhaps to the extent of an additional $100,000.

Because of these facts, the city is fortunate that the way has been cleared for an early start of construction of the new water plant. There are still some obstacles to be hurdled—such as approval by the Michigan Finance commission and the sale of the city's bonds on favorable terms. They are not regarded as major hurdles, however.

The urgency of the water plant project is well known to Escanaba residents. The present plant is not only obsolete and inadequate, but it is also unreliable. The walls are crumbling and it lacks filtering capacity to meet the city's needs.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, the city's water problem will be solved within the coming years.

Republicans Score Sweeping Victory

MICHIGAN Republicans had cause for jubilation as a result of Monday's election. Republican candidates not only made a clean sweep of the contested offices but the Republicans blunted the usual huge margins turned in for Democratic nominee in Wayne county.

Except for Murray Van Wagoner, former Democratic governor, Democratic nominees showed margins of less than 10,000 in Wayne county and one Republican, Dr. Thurston, superintendent of public instruction, actually won a Wayne county majority.

In Delta county, too, long a Democratic stronghold, Republican leaders have much to cheer about. Republican nominees won majorities for every contested office except for regents of the University of Michigan, in which the Democratic ticket locally was strengthened by an Escanaban, Wheaton Strom. It is true that some of the margins of victory for Republican candidates in Delta county were small, but the very fact that Republicans won despite the local strength of the Democratic ticket is indicative of a continuance of the trend that was evidenced in last fall's general election.

The tremendous victory registered by Dr. Thurston is all the more significant because it was registered in the face of a last minute effort by Governor Williams to smear the superintendent of public instruction regarding the latter's handling of the Litchfield school scandal. It was apparent by the election record that the voters rejected the governor's contentions.

(Grand Rapids Press)

A 3-year-old boy is dead and two older brothers are in critical condition in Norman, Okla., because still another brother, a private in the army, brought home three bazooka shells and a hand grenade as souvenirs. The soldier brother left this minor arsenal in the yard at home while he went hunting. One of the brothers apparently kicked a bazooka shell, thus causing it to explode.

One of the lesser points to be cleared up in this case is how the soldier managed to leave Camp Polk, La., where he was stationed, with the shells and grenade. Clearly this is a matter for the military authorities to check.

Aside from this, it should be emphasized that every soldier ought to know better than to bring home souvenirs of this kind from any place without first rendering them harmless. That point was dimmed into every person who returned from the fighting areas in World War II. Even so, some individuals simply had ignored the warning.

Since it is possible that fighting men will be coming back from Korea yet this year, it probably would be well for government officials to issue the warning all over again. Meanwhile, army authorities might see to it that this simple piece of common sense is drilled into soldiers in training camps, for their own protection. A soldier who would leave a "live" bazooka shell lying around the yard isn't likely to last long if he is handling explosives under fire.

TIME IS NO ALLY HERE

(Christian Science Monitor)

Recently this page mentioned that action on the bill for authorization of aid to India in the form of grain waits on the willingness of the rules committee to place the bill on the calendar of the House of Representatives.

The proposal, with some details left to further legislation, has been approved by the House foreign affairs committee. It is backed by the administration, by former President Hoover, by bipartisan support in both houses of Congress, and by most editorial opinion expressed on the subject.

It takes about six weeks to load a ship, sail to India, and unload. And some of the ships to be used are coming out of "moth balls." Meanwhile India has had to cut its ration for 125 million people from 12 ounces to 9 ounces a day, and can fill the ration quotas only as ships arrive. Approximately 45 million persons depend solely on the grain ration. How much hunger do the gentlemen of the House rules committee want to take responsibility for?

Record Of Congress Not Good Thus Far

CONGRESS is very busy these days holding up a mirror to various aspects of American life. Most of these matters, to judge from disclosures thus far, certainly needed examination. But Congress also might profit by taking a good look at itself.

The 82nd Congress now has been in session three months. In that time it has accomplished practically nothing, though many pressing issues crowd its calendar. The Senate managed to put through a military manpower bill, but the House has not done its part. Beyond that measure, the achievements are all minor.

This dilatory behavior on Capitol Hill is becoming a habit. In virtually no year since 1948 have the lawmakers chalked up a good early season record. They are beginning to fall into the wasteful, often dangerous pattern so characteristic of many state legislatures.

In a typical state capital where the legislators meet for two to six months, the representatives of the people spend the first few weeks or months chasing back and forth between home and capital. They meet perhaps two days a week in this span, usually adjourning in short order.

Then, as the deadline approaches for final adjournment, activity takes on a furious pace. Bills are sprung from committees as if catapulted, debated hastily or not at all, and jammed through by the dozens on voice votes. In the pell-mell rush, few measures get the care they deserve. But when the last gavel sounds, the legislators wearily file out, telling themselves they've done their duty.

It's time for the gentlemen on Capitol Hill to understand that they're not in Topeka or Jefferson City or Olympia now. People aren't waiting for authority to build a new road to by-pass the old water tower, or for a new beauty shop license law.

Washington is, in the most realistic sense, the capital of the world today. General Eisenhower waits upon Congress for the American troops to spark his hopeful European defense army, India, with millions on the brink of starving, waits to see if we will vote to send the grain they need. The American people listen patiently for final roll calls on measures to strengthen our defenses and buttress the dikes against inflation.

Both the citizens of this country and our friends abroad are entitled to sober and steady action from the members of Congress. This frittering away of time in endless, often pointless debate is no service to the nation or to the cause of democratic freedom. It merely serves to discredit the democratic process and engender the distrust of those who rely so heavily upon it.

If the television cameras could be trained for about two straight weeks on the House and Senate chambers, we might get a change of heart. It's doubtful the lawmakers would care to have it brought to the American living room how they're doing these days.

No RFC Loan Needed By General Motors

GENERAL MOTORS has announced net profits in 1950 of $834 million. This mighty sum exceeds the combined profits of 125 Class I railroads, and is also well above the combined earnings of the entire steel industry. It seems safe to say that GM, for the moment at least, is a healthy corporation.

Perfect Man

By Gordon Martin

There's a menace to the welfare of all ordinary guys, in the person of a gent the women like to idolize. You hear much about this fellow everywhere that dimes may meet, and they say that he's a lad who has a manner very sweet. And your wife is quick to tell you, when she has you on the pan, that you ought to be like So-and-so, the perfect ladies' man.

You are told you're mighty sloppy in your treatment of a gal, and that little acts of courtesy can bolster her morale. Now just take a look at So-and-so—he's always so polite, and he opens doors for ladies with the flourish of a knight. He will hold their coats or help them in and out of motor cars, and he'll say they are as beautiful as famous movie stars.

As for you, you're plenty slow to show some manners when you should, and your chivalry is just as bad as So-and-so's is good. You should be like him and jump to light a lady's cigarette, but you sit and scatter ashes and ignore your etiquette. Thus there is no bigger menace to the ordinary Joe, than that super-mannered gentleman, the perfect So-and-so.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Washington rumor factory is probably the most active and the most irresponsible in the world. Tales cooked up in Capitol Hill lobbies, the drawing rooms of high society or in a taxicab conversation are spread as fact within a matter of hours.

The story that the late Franklin Roosevelt was insane and had to be chained to his bed at night was a good example. One confidential news agency believed it to the extent of relaying it to its many thousand customers.

Latest Washington canard is that Secretary of Defense George Marshall is in his dotage and unable to come to his office more than half a week.

On the contrary, I can state that Marshall, though 70, is probably in better health than before his kidney operation, gets to the office before 8 a. m., has the papers read and sent out of his office by around 8:20 a. m., and puts in a full six-day week, working even on Saturday.

This is a lot more than most executives do in Washington, New York, or anywhere else.

Marshall is alert, his memory is amazing, and he seems completely on the ball. Furthermore, Marshall has put the old uniform aside and is trying to run the defense department as a civilian. This writer had some skepticism about this phase of Marshall's new job when first appointed secretary of defense, but the skepticism appears not to have been justified.

CATTLE-FEED SHORTAGE

Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brannan had been at daggers' points over government farm policies for some time with the man he fired last week, Ralph Trigg, chief of production and marketing.

Main reason the ax fell was that the production of certain vital farm crops—chiefly cattle feed—is desperately behind our defense goals.

About 127,000,000 tons of grain will be needed to feed our greatly expanded population of beef cattle and hogs this year. However, farmers have planted or scheduled for planting only enough acres to produce 117,000,000 tons of feed grain.

Corn will be about 5,000,000 acres short of the 90,000,000-acre production goal fixed by Brannan—which Trigg was supposed to deliver. Plantings of barley are 1,600,000 acres behind schedule and sorghum grain about 500,000 acres short.

At the same time we have 4,000,000 more beef cattle and over 5,000,000 more hogs to feed this year than in 1950. The pinch may not be felt this year because of feed-grain reserves. However, with these reserves exhausted, we will face a serious cutback in cattle production for defense needs—and therefore a meat shortage—in 1952.

Manpower shortage on the farms is one reason—perhaps the chief one—for the failure to divert more grasslands to planting feed grain. Knowing that their sons and younger hired hands would be drafted, farmers have held back from planting too much corn, which takes a lot of labor to harvest. However, Trigg did little about importing labor from Mexico and elsewhere to fill the gap.

Note — While we have been suffering from a farm-labor shortage, British troops have had to put down riots in the British West Indies because of unemployment.

WASHINGTON PIPELINE

Illustrating the Washington canard factory here is another I heard recently: "Drew Pearson has now sold out to Pan American Airways. He got a free trip to Europe with Pan American and is now in their pocket."

Real fact is that I paid my way to Europe on Pan American as I have on every other airline—unlike Roy Howard, publisher of a great newspaper chain, who has been a Pan American "guest" all over the world. However, I do not hesitate to pay tribute to Pan American's efficient operation across the Atlantic. If its Washington lobbying were on as clean a basis as its overseas operation, I could find no fault with Pan Am. . . The Senate small business committee will investigate the Civil Aeronautics board for trying to regulate small, unchartered airlines out of business. . . Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has recommended tighter controls on farm prices and wages. He wants to freeze farm parity prices at the January 15 level, then abolish the wage escalator clause which permits wages to rise with prices. His proposal is to plug the wage loophole after June 30, 1951.

American Uniforms And Arms Equip Soldiers Of Non-Communist World

By HERBERT PERKINS

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA)— All over the non-Communist world, soldiers, sailors and airmen are wearing American uniforms and using American arms. There is no accurate count of how many troops are partially equipped in this manner, but it would run to at least 1,000,000.

Some of this equipment is new, but most is World War II surplus. Since the end of World War II, the U. S. disposed of more than $10,000,000,000 worth of surplus military goods abroad. More than 40 nations received surplus military property ranging from side arms, smaller ships and tanks, to artillery and aircraft—fighters and bombers.

Some surplus property the U. S. gave away, much was sold. Sales brought in about $2,000,000,000. This post-war surplus disposal followed the pre-war and wartime lend-lease. The disposal program itself has been followed by special military aid to various nations and the Military Defense Assistance Program under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which is now in operation and providing our allies with large quantities of military equipment and training.

South America, Latin America, Canada, the British Commonwealth, most of Europe, Scandinavia, the Union of South Africa and the Philippines received surplus military equipment through the disposal program. Many of these nations now have troops in Korea, fighting with U. S. weapons which they came to know through this series of programs.

The scope of the surplus disposal program is shown by the great number of purchases. France acquired 262 Navy vessels, as well as great quantities of other equipment. Brazil, Venezuela and Colombia purchased military aircraft, small arms, ammunition and other materiel. Nationalist China received ammunition and explosives. Iran got small arms, ammunition, explosives and spare parts for weapons and aircraft.

Peru bought ammunition, artillery shells, six ex-Coast Guard vessels and a landing craft. Honduras purchased rifles, machine guns and howitzers. Switzerland and Italy bought aircraft and parts. Canada and the United Kingdom received ships, aircraft parts, electronics equipment and tanks. South Africa received tanks, trucks, cranes and aircraft equipment. Finland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden received ammunition, ships, explosives and aircraft parts and equipment.

All the North Atlantic Treaty nations have some troops familiar with U. S. equipment. Many of them are even used to wearing U. S. uniforms since the surplus disposal program.

Under the Military Defense Assistance Program of the NATO, the U. S. is providing even more guns, tanks, ships and planes to the NATO nations. Italy received three destroyer escorts. F4E Thunderjet fighters are being provided and more are forthcoming. So far the U. S. allotted 1600 tanks and vehicles, 600 aircraft and 50 ships under the program. Eight hundred thousand tons of new equipment have been delivered.

WITH FACES HIDDEN, these soldiers could be mistaken for American troops. Actually, this is an ambulance unit from India on duty in Korea, wearing U. S. uniforms and loading a U. S. made jeep.

Besides providing equipment, the U. S. is training a great number of foreign service personnel in the use of the equipment. Some 2000 MDAP personnel are now training in the U. S.

Fort Benning, Ga., is the scene of infantry training, and many armored unit personnel are being trained at Ft. Knox, Ky. At Ft. Bliss, Tex., anti-aircraft crews are being trained. About 500 air cadets—French, Dutch, Norwegian and Korean—are in training in Texas, and Naval air trainees are active at Pensacola, Fla. Foreign crews for ships to be turned over to MDAP nations are in training ashore and afloat at various Naval bases throughout the nation.

Besides the 2000 now in training, and 20,000 trainees expected in the U. S. by the end of 1951, the MDAP operates a broad training program under the European Command. The EUCOM group has five training units now operating.

Expansion of the North Atlantic Union defenses, under command of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is expected to call for even greater transfers of equipment and increased training of foreign forces by the U. S.

Letters From The People

Inflation And Taxes

Dear Editor:

Inflation, according to the dictionary, means over-issuance of currency, or in our words too much money to spend. Most of us would like to see some of this extra money as we could use plenty without wasting a cent.

Brains are being wracked to find ways and means of removing this too much money hazard, so even high-priced goods can rot on the shelves, while consumers go with out and business wrings its hands trying to figure out where the where-with-all is going to come from to pay taxes created to lap up this dangerous inflationary stuff.

About the only money a large percentage of us have heard about in inflationary amounts is in the report of the government receiving so much money in income taxes the 15th of March that it would be able to balance its books in black.

That's wonderful news for us as we're (in a round about way) the government; but most of us wish that somehow we could (personally) be showered with a rainfall of the inflationary stuff so we could balance our own books in the black too.

Before suffering too many headaches over inflationary dollars it may be a good idea to find them. A large number of them should be in government coffers at the rate they are being collected in taxes.

No matter how well-meaning a tax set-up starts out, the taxes end up like vultures on the shoulders of those least able to pay them.

A better excuse than 'inflation', should be used to issue more taxes, even for the war effort.

Suggestion! use some of the money being used, unwisely, in the Marshall plan, for our own war effort.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

OLD-FASHIONED WAY—With memorable exceptions our experience with church suppers has been anything but happy.

Perhaps it is only a sign of the changing times, but the modern church supper, in our opinion, is highly over-rated. Once upon a time (the legend goes) the traveling salesman could stop in almost any small town in America and eat a button-buster when the Ladies' Aid sponsored its famous church supper.

Now the traveling salesmen and almost everyone else prefers eating at home or the Greasy Spoon cafe.

Buying a ticket to a church supper has become risky business, unless you know the cooks. All too often it is an invitation to ulcers. Occasionally, however, a group of good cooks keep the church supper tradition alive and do honor to themselves and their church treasury.

CAUGHT AND TRAPPED—A few years ago in one of our rarely expansive moods a shy young lady from the country approached us selling tickets.

"Do you want to buy a chicken dinner to a ticket?" she inquired.

Her confused proposal of hospitality brought a sale and we parted friends. She looked so young and naive that we did not recognize her as a Lucretia Borgia in disguise. She was probably the daughter of the woman who brews the deadly potion they pour into the cups and saucers at church suppers.

THE HIGHER NUMBERS—This gourmet's delight to which we had innocently subjected our family turned out to be an endurance contest.

The church was in the country and the general idea was this: In preparing for the chicken dinner the cooks figured they would have enough rutabagas for 125 people, so they sold 325 tickets.

We got there at the hour designated on the ticket, only to find the church yard full of parked cars and the dining hall filled with hungry parishioners, who got the low-number tickets and came early.

The hours went by. Occasionally a man would come out and call off a few more ticket numbers and the holders of those lucky numbers would rush in one jump ahead of starvation. Meanwhile, those who had just vacated seats at the table sauntered out picking their teeth.

NECKS AND WINGS—At last our numbers were called and we carried our fainting offspring into the room where the groaning board was spread.

All of us had a glass of clear warm water to whet appetites that were already sharper than tiger claws. Then they brought on the dishes of rutabagas mashed to an unappetizing pulp.

Momentarily we expected steaming platters of chicken before we learned the awful truth. The chicken was gone except for what remained on the table—a few bony wings and a collection of necks and the piece that went over the fence last.

No salad, no rolls, no milk for the kids—just rutabagas and some anemic chicken gravy. And out in the yard about 100 people were still waiting to be fed.

IN GOOD FAITH—The passing years will probably heal the wound left by the recollection of that rutabaga repast. We hope so. We have a deep and abiding confidence in human nature and the integrity of womanhood. It must have been all a horrible mistake.

It has been necessary on diverse occasions for us to attend dinner meetings at which the dinner was prepared by the women of the church. A couple times we were almost satisfied. The meal lacked only minor improvements like more salt on the roast, a little heat applied to a soggy roll, or the use of a bigger eye-dropper to inject cream in the cream puff.

Rather than risk the general wrath of all the women who ever participated in a church dinner, let me hasten to explain that I am what was once called a finicky eater. Terrible to get along with at home, too.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

ON PRONUNCIATION OF FRENCH WORDS

A Detroit hostess asks, "What would you advise on the pronunciation of such French phrases as creme de cacao, and creme de menthe? Having studied French I can pronounce them correctly. But whenever I do, most people give me a peculiar look which says: (1) 'Oh, airing out your French, eh?' or: (2) 'Huh?'"

More than one third of all the words in English are from the French; but most of such words are never given the French pronunciation because they contain sounds that do not occur in English.

These few examples will illustrate: Premier—French: prum-YAY; English: pruh-MEAR. Nation—French: nass-YAW(N); English: NAY-shun. Content—French: KAW(N)-TAH(N); English: kunn-ten. Habitation—French: ab-ee-tass-YAW(N); English: hab-i-TAY-shun.

Now creme de cacao and creme de menthe are (as near as I can express them by means of English phonetic spelling): krehm duh ka-ka-OH and krehm duh MAH(N)T. And our dictionaries without exception list no other pronunciations.

But the American, again almost without exception, speaks of the liquors as: "cream dee KO-ko" and "cream de mint." Why? There are two reasons:

(1) The matter-of-fact Anglo-Saxon tongue has never been able to cope with most French phonetic sounds, and has always given English-sounding pronunciations to French loan words. (2) The liquors are flavored with cocoa and mint, respectively. To the American "creme" is "cream," "dee" is "dee," "cacao" is "cocoa," and "menthe" is "mint."

The average man knows but little about women's clothes, says a style expert. The price often is enough to make him forget everything else.

Medical Staff Reduced At U.

Military Demands Take 10 Per Cent

ANN ARBOR—Military service demands to date have reduced the medical staff of the University of Michigan Hospital by almost 10 per cent, according to Dr. Roger B. Nelson, assistant director.

A total of forty doctors in the hospital's resident training program have been called for military service, he reported. This represents about 18 per cent of the resident training staff, he said.

So far, the staff reduction has not impaired University Hospital's primary function of caring for patients, but it has resulted in some curtailment of research activities and increased the work load for the remaining staff members, Dr. Nelson pointed out.

Of the eleven clinical departments that have released doctors, the largest number have gone from the department of surgery, which has lost sixteen of its former total of eighty-three surgeons, he indicated.

At the present time, University Hospital has a total of 379 doctors on its staff, including forty-nine internes, 219 in the resident training program, and 111 permanent staff members, Dr. Nelson declared.

The hospital has been able to replace only three of the forty doctors called for military service and replacements for future losses are just not available, he pointed out.

While the medical staff has been decreasing, the number of patients given medical care has been gradually increasing, he emphasized. Dr. Nelson cited the fact that University Hospital records show a total of 18,973 out-patient visits in February of 1951 which is an increase of 984 visits over February of 1950.

However, the hospital records also show that the total of 667 surgical operations performed in February of 1951 is sixteen less than the total of 683 operations performed in February of last year, Dr. Nelson said.

But, he indicated that the total of 20,413 in-patient-days-care rendered this year is almost identical with the figure of 20,426 for last year.

Eskimo Exhibit At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS — The third grade of Grand Marais school has completed an exhibit, "Land of the Midnight Sun" which now is on display at the entry of the school. All work was done by the pupils under the supervision of Mrs. Forrest Carter.

A papier-mache model of the Eskimo's igloo home and the terrain about is the highlight of the exhibit. Wooden model sleighs, sleigh dogs, Eskimos in a kayak and polar bears were sketched by the young pupils but were cut out by the shop students with the jigsaw. The Eskimo scene is perfect in detail and shows an igloo some distance from open water on which float various sized ice floes and an Eskimo in his kayak. A polar bear is setting on an iceberg and the dog team and sleigh with driver is ready for departure. A miniature pair of snowshoes, spear and fishing equipment lean against the igloo and two huskies frolic in the rear. The backdrop depicts the rays of the midnight sun.

The exhibit includes a class-made newspaper, "The Midnight Sun", letters of Eskimo life and drawings, tests, etc. The display is the result of a month's work and study in geography, language, spelling and mathematics correlated on the life of the Eskimo. Other students who worked on the exhibit are Rueben Knutson, John Venturato, Dick Callo, Rozel Williams and Bernice Borseau.

Theodore Schmit Dies In Chicago

Operated Boarding House At Wells

Theodore J. Schmit, 60, of 1090 Avenue B, Chicago, former resident of the Chemical Plant location where he operated the old boarding house many years, died Tuesday at the South Shore hospital in Chicago. He had been ill two months.

Mr. Schmit was labor foreman for the Interlake Iron corporation in Chicago.

He was born in Luxembourg. Surviving are his wife, the former Ida Posenke, two sons, Theodore, jr., of Chicago and Gaylord of Washington, D. C., two daughters, Mrs. Edward Motyko, who was Carol Schmit, and Mrs. William G. Mather, the former Lillian Schmit, Chicago, and four grandchildren.

The body will be brought to Escanaba Friday morning and will be taken to the Anderson funeral home where friends may call beginning late Friday afternoon. Services will be held Saturday morning and burial will be in West Ford River cemetery.

Approval Is Near On Bill To Limit Troops For Europe

time "without Congressional approval." Administration leaders fought that part of the resolution.

The administration won a major bout yesterday when opponents failed in an attempt to change the form of the resolution so that it might eventually become actual law.

As it is, however, the resolution is just an advisory opinion.

The House has taken no action yet on the troops issue.

Meanwhile, Senator Tobey (R-NH), one of the Senate's crime investigators, said that three new witnesses, long wanted by the committee, "should not be allowed to escape questioning just because they eluded the committee for so long."

Final Report Coming

He urged prompt reopening of the hearing to take testimony from Charles and Rocco Fischetti, whom he called "Kingspins in the Gambling World."

The Fischetti Brothers — and a third newly-captured witness, Murray L. (The Camel) Humphrey — surrendered within the past two days. They are free under bond.

Committee chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) told reporters "provision will be made" to get their testimony.

But first, he said, the committee must complete a final report on its coast-to-coast crime inquiry. That is due the end of this month.

In another investigation development today, Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) handed his Senate banking subcommittee the task of picking one of two other committees as the proper group to probe riches in surplus ship deals.

The Fulbright subcommittee has heard testimony that Joseph E. Casey and others reaped a $2,800,000 profit on a $100,000 investment in oil tankers purchased from the old maritime commission.

No wrong-doing has been charged by any senator, but both committees—the Commerce committee and an Expenditures subcommittee—want to examine the profitable transaction to see if political influence or income tax loopholes were involved.

Casey said his share of the profit was $250,000, his investment $20,000. He is a former Democratic Congressman from Massachusetts.

St. Joseph Socialite Goes To Prison For Embezzling $150,000

ST. JOSEPH, Mich.—(P)—Robert W. Brown, 35-year-old St. Joseph socialite who pleaded guilty in the Berrien county circuit court March 19 to a charge of embezzling $150,000 from the St. Joe Machine, Inc., by which he was employed as personnel manager and assistant bookkeeper, was sentenced to serve five to ten years in Jackson prison by Judge Edward A. Westin.

The thefts took place over a period of five years and went undetected until the company received a bill for a 42-cent check handling charge from a local bank.

Brown admitted after his arrest that he had taken checks from the mail for machines delivered by the company, cashed them and deposited the funds elsewhere to his personal account.

Brown told Sheriff Erwin M. Kubath that all the money was spent for expensive automobiles, clothes and other luxuries. He kept his wife in ignorance of the source of income, explaining that he was receiving dividends from a Chicago business in which he was interested.

Bermuda is not a part of the West Indies, but is an island in the Atlantic Ocean. It is a British possession.

The Newsmag above tells why western strategists consider the Mediterranean area and Middle East to be the weakest flank of the free world's defenses against threat of Soviet expansion. Nationalization threat to Britain's oil fields in Iran emphasizes the need for organization to guarantee control of vital Mediterranean line stretching from Spain to Iran in case of war. Major stumbling block is France, which has refused to participate in Mediterranean defense planning unless given a full partnership with Britain and U. S. in conferences on the matter.

Iraq Gets High Oil Royalties

Foreign Firm Forced To Split Profits

BAGHDAD, Iraq — (P) — The partly American-owned Iraq Petroleum company is reported to have agreed to increase Iraq's oil royalties to rates about equal to those paid nearby Arab nations by foreign interests. This could be as much as 50 per cent of profits.

A government communique last night announced the agreement. It followed by a day a declaration by Iraq's premier that foreign-controlled oil companies might lose their concessions if they refused to pay higher royalties.

The statement by Premier Nuri Pasha al Said was in reply to demands in parliament for nationalization of Iraq's oil industry, a step the parliament of neighboring Iran has authorized. American, British, French and Dutch capital control the industry in Iraq.

The Iraq Petroleum company is internationally owned. A 33 1/3 per cent interest is held jointly by Standard Oil company (New Jersey) and Socony-Vacuum, Inc. The company operates an oil field at Kirkuk in Iraq and has concessions covering almost all of the country.

Fleet Of 21 Boats Head For Escanaba

Three boats are in Escanaba waiting for cargoes, two more were to arrive today and 21 additional carriers are scheduled between now and April 13, Lee A. McMillan, C&NW dock agent, said today.

The rush for ore was definitely on at Escanaba, with 50 of about 90 iron ore handlers at work and all regular employees coming on tomorrow. Ore was arriving from the mines by rail at a faster rate as loadings were speeded up.

The Strs. Selwood and E. J. Block were due today, with the Str. C. C. Conway due to be loaded out tomorrow, first of the season.

The cutter Mackinaw was working in the Green Bay harbor area and today was ordered to Lake Superior. The cutter Sundew will come here to assist shipping, and the cutter Woodbine today was breaking ice in the vicinity of Kipling in Little Bay de Noc.

Hollywood Salesman Welches On Suicide; Booked For Murder

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — "My executioner will kill a corpse, for I have already left the realm of the living."

This note, police say, was written by Robert G. Dessauer, 29, before he telephoned them to "come and get me, I just murdered a woman."

They found Libby Bershad, 30, dead in her car Monday night with four bullet wounds in her head. Dessauer, unemployed salesman, was booked on suspicion of murder.

Police quoted Dessauer as saying he lived with the attractive blonde and her 12-year-old daughter. Dessauer told them he welshed on a suicide pact after killing the woman, police said.

He said they became despondent when he failed to get a divorce from his wife in New York. The wife, he said, is the former Corrine Davidson, 20, of the Bronx.

Abraham Lincoln's final copy of his Gettysburg Address was sold in April, 1949, for $54,000 to a retired Havana businessman.

Bill To Lift Duty On Copper Opposed

employing about 3,000 persons in the state's northern peninsula.

Won't Increase Imports

The Michigan congressman called the Mills proposal "fairly reasonable" as compared to past suspension bills, but said he will vote against it for these reasons:

1. Removal of the duty won't bring any increased imports because foreign producers already can sell all their copper.
2. Copper shouldn't be singled out for tariff suspension. Bennett said "no one is trying to take the tariff off lead, zinc and other scarce metals."
3. "Once a tariff is suspended someone can always find a reason not to put it back."

Copper currently brings producers 24 cents a pound. The two cents duty went back into effect July 1, 1950.

During World War II the copper duty was suspended in effect because the government bought the scarce metal directly.

In 1947 Congress enacted the first legislative suspension of the import tax, effective for two years. This was renewed in 1949 for another year.

After the tax was re-imposed last July, the House voted to remove it for a fourth year but the Senate never acted.

Mills has proposed that the tax be suspended until Feb. 15, 1953, except during periods when the price falls below 24 cents.

Bloody Red Purge Reaches New High In Chinese Victims

HONG KONG — (P)—Reports from Red China indicated today the Communists' bloody purge reached a new high the last two weeks in March.

The Reds' Peiping radio announced mass executions Saturday of "a large group of counter-revolutionaries" at Tientsin and of 23 at Swatow. This brought to at least 212 the number of executions officially announced in the 13-day period ended March 31.

Chinese Nationalist sources at Taipei, Formosa, reported hundreds of new Red executions, with thousands more under arrest on the mainland. The Nationalist defense ministry has said about 10,000 await execution at Nan-chang, Kiangsi province capital.

There was no way to confirm the many reports heard here or at Taipei.

The Nationalists have charged the victims of the Red purge already total more than 1,000,000.

Cleveland Gambler Mushy Wexler Gives Up In Washington

WASHINGTON — (P) — Morris (Mushy) Wexler, Cleveland, Ohio, gambling figure and missing witness in the Senate's crime investigation, surrendered today to Joseph Duke, Senate sergeant-at-arms.

Wexler accepted a subpoena from the special crime committee headed by Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn).

He was released under $3,000 cash bond. Wexler said he had been in Florida.

Poor Election Day Showing Made By State Democrats

carefully-laid program of bipartisan taxes in the legislature.

Chairman Puzzled

Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, conceded he was puzzled by the Democrats' poor showing in the Monday contest, especially in their traditional fortress, Wayne county.

The G. O. P. regents carried all but seven counties and were mighty close in several of those, although the Democrats did much better in this race in Wayne.

Dr. Thurston, in the final incomplete unofficial count, had a ticket-leading total of 378,439 votes, and a margin of 86,000 over Edgar W. Waugh, the Ypsilanti college professor.

But Waugh, a political newcomer, led his ticket, out-running former governor Murray D. Van Wagoner by 14,000 votes.

Van Wagoner, whom Williams named to the board of regents of the University of Michigan, failed to win election by 97,000 votes.

Roscoe O. Bonisteel of Ann Arbor, a veteran Republican incumbent, came within 8,000 votes of Dr. Thurston for second place on the ticket. A newcomer politically, Leland I. Doan of Midland, president of the Dow Chemical company, led Van Wagoner by 89,000 votes.

Labo Leaders Absent

Charles G. Burns, Detroit high school principal, rang up the largest majority, running 138,000 votes ahead of 28-year-old Louis J. McGuiness, a Detroit school teacher and Democrat.

The Republican supreme court judges, Emerson R. Boyles and Neil E. Reid, piled up margins of 185,000 and 160,000 over their Democratic rivals, James H. Lee of Detroit and Theodore P. Ryan, of Grand Rapids.

Democrats said part of their Wayne county loss stemmed from the fact that 1,500 of their top workers were absent as delegates to a UAW-CIO convention in Cleveland.

Williams said sadly it was "disappointing that such a small minority decided" the election.

Balky Mule Takes Spotlight As Circus Arrives In New York

NEW YORK — (P)—The circus is back in town, and with it a stubborn mule and 1,399 other animals.

The Missouri mule, Marybelle, grabbed the spotlight Monday by staging a sit-down strike as the first contingent of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey show paraded into town.

Marybelle's behavior stalled the caravan heading down Second avenue to Madison Square Garden from the Harlem river railroad yards, where the animals were unloaded.

The grayish-brown, pint-sized mule just sat—until she was lifted up bodily and placed in a taxicab.

Arriving at the Garden in this regal manner, Marybelle was escorted, or rather dragged, out of the cab to meet the photographers.

Meanwhile, the caravan resumed its trek as hundreds of children lined the avenue. Popcorn and balloon vendors did a brisk business in the warm spring sunshine.

Anchor Is Found In Dry Lake

LONE PINE, CALIF. — (P)—A century-old ship's anchor has been dug from the dry bottom of Owens Lake. The hand-forged, 400-pounder was probably lost by one of the clam-shell bottom boats that ferried silver ore across the lake for shipment by mule train to Los Angeles.

Dykema Appointed To Fill Securities Commission Vacancy

LANSING — (P) — John R. Dykema, 32-year-old attorney, was appointed by Governor Williams today to be state corporation and securities commissioner.

Dykema succeeds Phillip A. Hart who resigned to serve as state director of the federal office of price stabilization.

Dykema's background is similar to that of Williams. A graduate of Princeton and the University of Michigan law school, he served in the navy submarine service and in 1948 was senior law clerk in the office of the late associate Justice Frank Murphy of the U. S. supreme court.

Since 1949 he has been in law practice in Detroit with his father.

Dykema will take over the $7,500 a year job immediately pending action by the senate on his confirmation.

Iowa Court Upholds Conviction Of Doctor In Triangle Slaying

DES MOINES — (P)—The Iowa supreme court today upheld the conviction of Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, 29, of St. Louis, and said he must serve his 70-year term for the slaying of his wife's bachelor admirer.

Dr. Rutledge was sentenced in May, 1949, after a jury convicted him of fatally knifing Byron C. Hattman, 27, St. Louis aircraft engineer, in a Cedar Rapids hotel room.

The defense pictured Hattman as "a venomous" viper who accomplished his desires with the doctor's young, beautiful and beloved wife.

Rutledge said he followed Hattman to Cedar Rapids, begged him to leave Mrs. Rutledge alone, and fought in self-defense when Hattman attacked him.

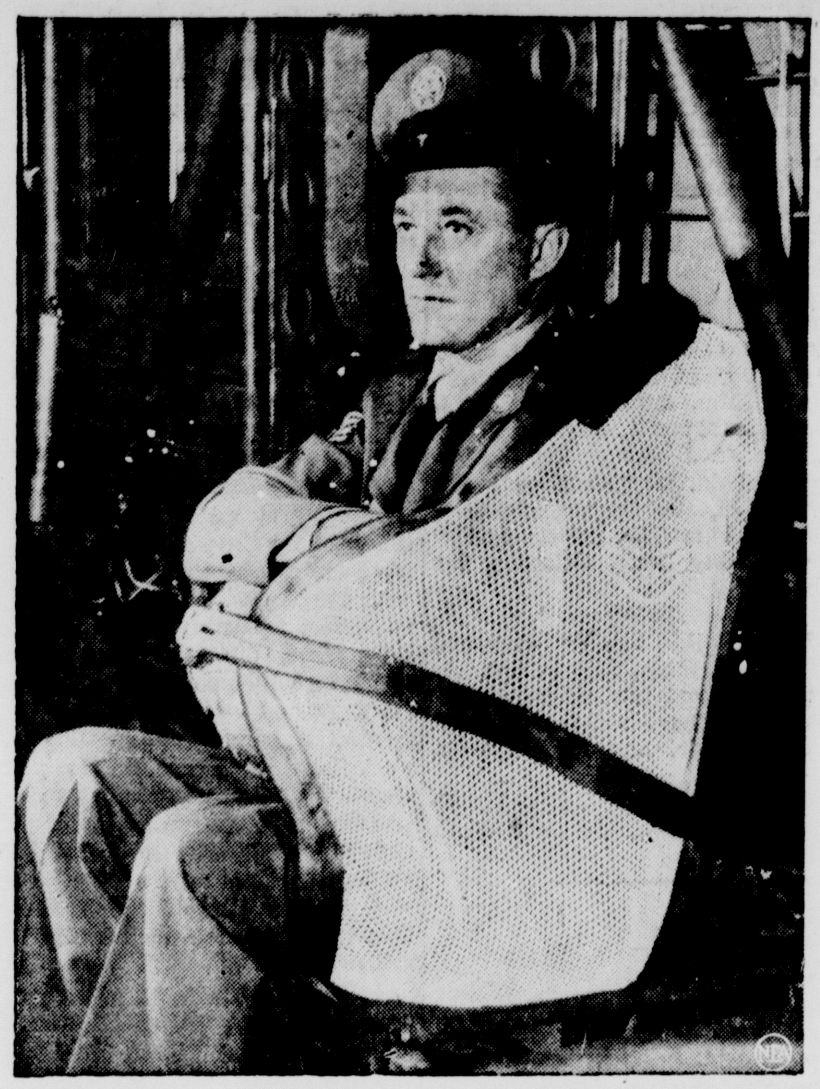

Ford To Introduce British Small Car

DETROIT — (P)—The Ford Motor Co. is bringing to the United States the new British-built Consul model to feel out the market for a small car.

The company said today the car will be brought over in limited numbers within the next few months. It probably will "retail in the $1,700-$1,800 range at port of entry," the company announced.

The Consul has a 100-inch wheelbase, like Nash's Rambler and Kaiser-Frazer's Henry J. It is being produced as a five-passenger-four door sedan.

Gasoline mileage ranging up to 37 miles a gallon is claimed for the Consul. It is powered with a four-cylinder engine and has a top speed of 70 miles an hour.

CRASH SACK — A nylon net able to withstand a crash force of 8000 pounds is the newest safety device for airborne fighting men. The net, developed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O., soon will be standard equipment on all Air Force cargo planes. It is designed to fit over a paratrooper or airborne infantryman and his 150-pound pack and protect him from crash impacts and take-off and landing jolts. (U. S. Air Force photo from NEA-Acme)

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (P)—You can hear at least two versions of what's going on in the boxing trade hereabouts—both confusing. The official version, heard in the IBC office, is that matchmaker Al. Weill wants to bring in "every new fighter who should be seen in New York."

He already has produced Rex Layne, Irish Bob Murphy and Bob Satterfield to the delight of the TV fans and a few cash customers. There may be more by the end of May, for Bob Baker, sixth ranking heavyweight, will get his first New York showing at St. Nick's next week; young Chico Vejar is advancing to the main bout class and Paul Pender, flashy Boston middleweight Rocky Marciano, managed by Al's son Marty, give it to you another way. They claim Weill figured to give Layne, Murphy, etc., matches that would make them look bad and was unexpectedly rewarded with a series of crowd-pleasing windings. But the question still is how the fighters can cash in on their new popularity on the air waves. The managers will meet Friday to demand more TV dough. They won't get much—and what can they do about it?

He Wanted A Live One

Johnny Clark, whose numerous activities include doing a bit of non-profit publicity for the non-profit Keeneland race track, recently tried to get a photo of War Admiral looking at the statue of his celebrated sire, Man O' War. Clark asked Bud Graves, War Admiral's Negro groom, to lead the horse up to the statue. Bud objected: "Don't think War Admiral would like dat, Mr. Johnny. He knows dat thing ain't alive."

Floor Leader Irks Lansing Republicans

LANSING — (P) — Republican leaders in the House called a caucus today to smooth some ruffled brows in their own ranks.

Dissatisfaction with the rule of Rep. Robert M. Montgomery (R-Lansing) as majority floor leader mushroomed behind the scenes Tuesday after lawmakers returned from a long recess.

The discontent centered among young first and second termers who accused Montgomery of using a club to get them in line when not necessary.

Rep. William S. Bloomfield (R-Royal Oak), one of the leaders in the opposition camp, said the insurrection might be serious enough to unsettle Montgomery as floor leader.

Mother In Jewelry Theft Doesn't Want Her Baby Born In Jail

DETROIT — (P)—Mrs. Doris Lishansky, a prospective mother held in jail in connection with a jewel theft, doesn't want her child born in a jail cell.

That's what she told Joseph C. Murphy, chief assistant district attorney, as she offered to tell her part of the jewel loot is— if he can go free on reduced bond. She and her husband, Ephraim, were arrested by FBI agents in Los Angeles in January. Agents said they found $65,000 of the loot in her husband's possession. It didn't find the remaining $8,000 in jewels.

While awaiting trial in federal court, the couple has been unable to furnish bond of $25,000 and is held in jail.

Murphy quoted Mrs. Lishansky, who doesn't want her child to bear the stigma of a jail birth, as saying she didn't know the location of the jewels. But she thought she could learn the secret from her husband.

They are charged with obtaining the jewels last October by using a wholesale merchant here as a check.

Lake Waterway Not U. S. Defense Item, Railroad Men State

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads told Congress supporters of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power project have failed to show it is needed for national defense.

Gregory S. Prince, assistant general counsel for the association, expressed that view in testimony before the House public works committee.

First Of 50

He was the first of about 50 witnesses that St. Lawrence opponents will call to testify before the committee which is considering legislation to authorize the $800,000,000 project.

Proponents presented their case earlier in the year. Prince said the seaway is not necessary for national defense—as the supporters contend—and that it would be detrimental to the national economy.

As to proponents' arguments that the need for Labrador iron ore is one of the main reasons why the seaway should be built, Prince said the committee also has been told the Mesabi deposits—the country's main source of iron ore for more than 50 years—contain more than a 30-year reserve.

Taconits Available

"From the standpoint of national defense and security," Prince said, "the nation would be far better off if it did not have to rely upon any source outside our borders, and it is possible to achieve this independence through the beneficiation (concentration) of taconite (low grade ore) in sufficient quantity to supplement the production of high grade (Mesabi) ore."

He said that Labrador ore would come to this country whether or not the seaway is built. It would be "far cheaper," he argued, to transport it by existing means than to construct the seaway.

He also asserted that in the event of all-out war the waterway would be "highly vulnerable" to attack. Attempts to defend it, he said, would "not only be costly but in all probability would be ineffectual."

Four Rail Routes

On the other hand, he said, the four rail routes from Montreal would make it virtually impossible to bring about an "effective interruption of transportation."

He said that although the waterway is discussed as being self-liquidating through imposition of ship tolls, the traffic estimates on which tolls "must be based are wholly unrealistic."

"In fact," he said, "they are in excess of the claimed capacity of the project."

He also contended the cost of the seaway would be "far in excess" of present estimates. And, he said, the United States would pay six and one-third times the amount that Canada would pay.

Getting Sick Has Rewards

Ailing Ruark Gets Much Attention

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—It is a terrible thing to be healthy. Of this I am now convinced. A fellow forgets when he has not been bedridden for a lengthy spell, what a fine business it is to take down with an ailment which is not apt to kill or cripple him, but merely makes him a target for gentle concern.

I accumulated some odd and virulent bugs lately, and fled into the covers. Frankly, I never had more fun in my life. Getting sick is a luxury, today, comparable to taking a trip to Florida, and is the only simple system I know for becoming a big shot in your own house.

The secret of successful sickness, of course, is to look properly dramatic, as one who is tapping gently on death's portal, and to imply that this might not have happened if certain people had been more solicitous of your past welfare.

Pills and Injections

Looking dramatic is easy with a three-day beard, and if your whiskers are sort of green, like mine, it is really a shame to take the money. A profusion of pills, capsules, injections and powders lend a Camille-like waxiness which strikes pity even in the heart of a spouse. Also, I have found that flaring the nostrils and sucking in the cheeks can make a man look awful noble.

This dramatization, this waxiness, this nobility of expression causes all sorts of wonderful things to happen. People come to call, bearing fifths of calf-foot jelly and new books. The help flutters around, cooking up tempting messes of exotic food to tempt the invalid appetite. A feeble sigh sets the house a-stir.

Good Deeds Remembered

Whereas the old man is generally treated as a necessary nuisance around the lodge, sickness suddenly accentuates his true im-

Members of the Relaxation club met Tuesday night with Mrs. Donald Killoran for sewing and games of 500. Prizes were won by Mrs. Richard Barbeau, Mrs. Roland Gauthier and Mrs. Tom Peterson in first, second and low positions. Mrs. Steve Tornovich will be the next hostess.

Shower Party

Mrs. Glen Thill was honored in town hall Thursday night at a pink and blue shower party. In games of 500, Mrs. Emil Vetter, Mrs. Steve Tornovich and Mrs. Richard Barbeau received first, second and consolation prizes. Delicious lunch was served after play following which Mrs. Thill was presented with gifts and money. The party was arranged portance as the bull breadwinner. His past kindnesses, his winsome little traits, his unflagging energy, his cheery disposition and his tendency to turn over the paycheck, intact, suddenly are remembered.

Gone is the grouchy old bear who crabs about the bills and raises a rumpus when he can't find his slippers. A horrid thought, like evil sugar plums, dances through the heads of all hands. What, they ask themselves, will happen to us all if the old goat corks off, through neglect, and leaves us destitute? Even the dogs sense the impending tragedy, and refrain from chewing on the furniture out of deference to father's delicate nerves.

DON'T MISS THE JOY OF LIVING

If ugly fat is hiding your slender figure, and if you are missing those second glances from friends and admirers you will be interested in the success experienced by Mrs. Everett Cauthen, 3865 Rich Street, Detroit 8, Mich.

"Before using Rennel Concentrate I was overweight, always tired, clothes didn't fit and I was out of line in every way," writes Mrs. Cauthen. "Then I read about Rennel. With its help I lost 56 pounds going from 210 to 154. I am overjoyed at what Rennel has done for me. It has changed my whole life. The wish to be slender and graceful like most of my friends has become a reality. Now I enjoy dancing and the rest of the sports. My friends tell me how wonderful I look but they don't know how well I feel. Once again I enjoy shopping for clothes and being easily fitted. All folks in need of it should try this wonderful product, Rennel Concentrate."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two table-spoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on Rennel.

Your Child Will Forgive If You Forgive Yourself

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
 If your youngster has been giving you a hurtful and difficult time lately, think a little. Have you done something to him which makes you feel ashamed? Do you feel that you have done him some injustice?
 If you have, forgive yourself. Then your child will forgive you.
 Try it.
 Children can forgive the wrongs we do to them only if we take the leadership in forgiveness.
 Mrs. M. abandoned her six-year-old son after her husband deserted her. But she loved her child. So she worked for another half dozen years to make a home for him.
 He didn't appreciate it. He preferred the streets. One night when Mrs. M. protested his late hours, her boy said: "You walked out on me without telling me where you were going. Now it's my turn."
 Her son said that because his mother still acted ashamed of herself, even though she had corrected her mistake. When she accomplished her self-forgiveness, she and her boy worked out the real home.
 "Owe No Man Anything . . ."
 It's very hard indeed to live with a child, or anyone else, for that matter, to whom we feel we are in debt. We are apt to say "yes" when we want to say "no." When we do say "no," we may say it sharply and unreasonably. We have a tendency to see defiance and slight where they do not exist. When they do exist, we may be afraid to mention them.
 If you have ever forgiven someone else for doing you an injury, you know what forgiveness means. It means being reunited with yourself, being a whole person again.
 Your wholeness is what your child may be asking for by his impertinence, disobedience and irritation.
 If you think you are the first human being to hurt someone and suffer for it, remember what was written hundreds of years ago: "Owe no man anything, but to love one another."

Proper Setting Shows Woman's True Loveliness

 No woman would take her grandmother's diamond and have it set in a brass ring from the dime store. Such a mounting would utterly spoil the effect of the stone.
 Yet many women lavish hours upon personal care without realizing that their beauty, like a precious gem, also needs the proper setting to be shown to full advantage.

TEEN TALK

BY WYAN BROWN

(P) Newsfeatures

It may seem premature but now is the time to test the vacation job market. Lazy birds who wait until school closes will pass the summer again meaning that there just isn't anything available. Young adults who set their job sails now will know what the market has to offer and be able to choose from the job pot.

If you start now to look for summer employment you can make the big decision as to whether you are mainly interested in (1) money (2) a job that builds for the future (3) a job combining a vacation.

Once you decide that your main object is money, perhaps for next year's college tuition, you naturally will want to take a job near your home so you can live and eat with your family at minimum cost. Also you will have the opportunity now of picking a firm which can afford to pay the salary you want. It is doubly good if you can get a good paying job in the field you plan to pursue after your graduation from high school or college.

In selecting a job that will tie in with your future plans here is a typical guide which you can use or you can chart your own if you have an unusual job in mind.

Jobs as stock girls, sales girls, information girls and clerks in department stores are good background if you plan a career as a buyer, fashion designer and even a copy writer.

A job as hospital helper, nurses aide or laboratory assistant is ideal for the girl who plans to be a nurse or pathologist.

Assisting in a school or hospital kitchen is invaluable if you plan to be a dietitian.

Jobs as clerks, typists, stenographers and general office worker will give you experience for your goal of private secretary.

Sit down and list all the jobs related to your future career. Try to get one of them before settling on anything else, but don't hold out too long unless you can afford to.

If you are a vacation-job hunter, take out the classified directories in local libraries, or get circulars from local travel bureaus and correspond about job possibilities with the resort you'd like to visit. It is better if you can arrange to do this through your school which frequently has information about good hotels and inns in resort areas. When picking some yourself, make sure that they are recommended by your travel bureau, or other reliable source, and if possible have a family friend in a nearby town give it the look-see before you make a decision.

Jobs as camp counselors or farm hands or beach helpers offer fine possibilities if you do your looking early. Some dude ranches hire girls to assist them during the busy vacation season.

If you go to see your prospective employer in person, don't show up in blue jeans and shirt, even if it is for the dude ranch job. Wear a clean pressed suit, a small suit hat, tailored shoes—not spits, a minimum of make-up. Your gracious manner and charm should win you the job providing you can compete with your competition in other respects.

Seeking a job by mail is a different matter. Your impression is going to be made by your stationery, penmanship and tone of your correspondence. Don't use a weird shade of stationery—white, pale blue, grey are the most acceptable. Use blue-black, blue or black ink. It isn't necessary to brag about yourself and your accomplishments, but you shouldn't sell your stock cheap. Tell the facts. You are interested in the job because you plan a future as (whatever it is). Or say that you want the job because you've got to get a summer job and you're willing to consider any job. (Employers always like that.) Or to the resorts state that you like to swim, ride or live in the mountains, whatever the situation happens to be, and that you'd like to combine a job at that resort with a vacation.

At its peak strength during World War II, Germany, including Austria, had 10,000,000 men under arms.

R. P. Davis Is Fund Chairman

Money To Be Sought For Cancer Fight

The 1951 Cancer Fund drive will get under way in Gladstone next Monday, it was announced yesterday by Ross P. Davis, Gladstone chairman.

The drive gets rolling in other parts of Delta county the same day in an effort to obtain $3,000.00 the quota set for this county for the current year.

Chairman Davis said yesterday that he would select block workers to make a house-to-house solicitation in the residential section of the city.

Coin receptacles which are to be placed in business houses are also awaited.

Cancer today rates as the No. 2 killer in the nation. Over 210,000 persons or one out of seven who died in 1950 was a victim of the dread disease and unless new methods of detection and treatment are learned it may not be long before one of every five deaths will be from this cause.

Band Survey Is Being Conducted

C-C Wants To Learn Public Sentiment

Frank Jandro, president of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce, is conducting a survey to determine if there is sufficient interest to warrant organization of a municipal band in Gladstone.

In order to determine sentiment toward such a musical organization, Jandro requests Gladstone residents to mail him postcards stating their views, whether favorable or not.

He also asks that musicians interested in playing with such a band contact Paul Cowen, public school music director, in order that some determination as to the number of musicians available may be made.

Cancer Drive Launched At Luncheon Meeting

"Carry cancer education into every home", as stated by Mrs. Arthur Gilbert, was the general theme of the annual luncheon meeting held Saturday afternoon in preparation for the drive against cancer to be conducted during April.

Both Mrs. Gilbert, the Upper Peninsula commander of the American Cancer Society, and Dr. George A. Shaw, local medical director, presented the brighter side of the fight against cancer—that of curable cancer if detected in the early stages. The 1951 emphasis of the cancer drive is focused on the steadily increasing number of cured or arrested cases of cancer, and the steadily decreasing percent of deaths due to cancer. The credit for this progress in fighting cancer has been attributed to the attention given to the need for early detection and diagnosis of cancer.

Mrs. Gilbert praised Schoolcraft county for having the foresight to purchase a moving film projector in order to carry out an all-year-round program in fighting cancer.

Film Available
Mrs. J. J. Herbert, county commander, stated that any group may request the showing of a film on cancer at any time. In the meantime, the projector may be used by the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital when needed.

Mrs. Gilbert also described the work of the cytology laboratory at Menominee, services of which are available free of charge to the Upper Peninsula in making the wet smear test in detecting cancer.

Dr. Shaw stressed the need for early detection of cancer, and acquainting the public with the seven danger signals. "Get the suspects into the doctor's office as soon as possible," said Dr. Shaw. Several questions concerning cancer were answered by Dr. Shaw in an impromptu forum following his discussion.

Russell Watson, county campaign chairman who acted as master of ceremonies, described the need for a special drive to obtain funds to carry on the crusade against cancer. Furthering research and educating the public still more in conquering cancer, as well as making the services of the cancer society available to existing cancer cases is the goal of the 1951 cancer drive, it was pointed out.

Luncheon Served
A "traditional" luncheon served buffet style attracted attention to the centerpiece, a doll wedding procession, symbolic of the spring style show, culminating activity of the cancer drive, which is to be held on April 25.

Mrs. William Schobert pronounced the invocation and benediction.

A film on cancer was presented in concluding the meeting.

Mrs. J. J. Herbert was in charge of all preparations for the meeting which was attended by interested persons and solicitors from all parts of Schoolcraft county and the city of Manistique. The complete list of solicitors will be announced later.

Those present at the luncheon included Russell Watson, Mrs. Arthur Gilbert, Mrs. J. J. Herbert, Dr. George A. Shaw and Mrs. Fred Bernhardt, publicity chairman; Mrs. Tom Buruse, Manistique Township; Mrs. Leon Rice, Mrs. Clifford Smith, Doyle township; Mrs. James Wieland, Mrs. John Burley, Mrs. Don Dissinger, Hiawatha township; Mrs. John Van Orman, Mrs. Richard Freeland, Mueller township; Mrs. Harvey Saunders, Mrs. Leo Lawrence, Mrs. John Lustila, Germfask; Mrs. Arthur Saunders, Mrs. William Turpin, Mrs. Ruth Shust, Mrs. Ralph Williams, Mrs. Richard Cummings, Mrs. Dale Ott, Mrs. Tom Grimsley, Mrs. Peter Babladelis, Mrs. Arthur Nelson, Mrs. Peter Wicklund, Mrs. William Schobert, Mrs. Carl Olson, Mrs. Clarence McNamara, Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. Carl Makel, Mrs. A. # Three Marquette County Cagers On B All-Star Five Marquette county, the home of two regional champions and admittedly the stronghold of basketball in the Upper Peninsula this winter, placed three cagers on the class B team selected by the Sports Writers Association.

The three are Carl Nystrom, Marquette Gravenet's outstanding defensive forward; Terry Thompson, Ishpeming center whose pivot shot had most opponents helpless during an unbeaten season; and Lowell Johnson, Negaunee guard who ranked with the best in rebound control.

Thompson was named guard on the class B team, a position in which he often appeared during the season.

Filling out the all-star quintet are Iron Mountain's Glen Hultquist, forward, and Ironwood's Bob Blomley, center.

Those five were by far the best to be found in a large group of excellent class B players. Peninsula sports writers decided, although such names as Rogers Corcoran, Ishpeming; Bob Redman, Marquette; George Gross, Sault Ste. Marie; Ray Trewhella, Negaunee, and Joe Villeneuve, Newberry, were heard during the discussion that preceded the selection.

Those players received honorable mention, along with the following:

Jerry Anderson, Manistique; Dick Shomin, Escanaba; Charles Knutson, Ironwood; Popour and McNamara, Manistique; Winikka, Calumet; Jim Mason, Sault Ste. Marie; Neil Nystrom, Marquette; Phil Creten and Tom Moreau, Gladstone; Mike Micknick, Stephenson; Oscar Frangquist and James Rowe, Ironwood; Heiden, Escanaba; Nick Massie, Kingsford.

Penn Staters Good Diplomats

Soccer Team Gets Cheers In Iran

By CLARK BEACH
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Penn State college soccer team lost two of its three games to Iranian teams on a tour last week, but the trip was a stunning diplomatic success.

Cables from the United States embassy in Teheran to the state department told today of wildly enthusiastic receptions given the American boys wherever they went.

These cables were about the first good news that has come to the department for a long time from troubled Iran, where U. S. prestige has been at a low ebb. Early this month 5,000 leftists staged a "peace demonstration" outside the U. S. embassy, shouting "death to MacArthur."

"There has never been a group of visiting Americans who have caused so much enthusiasm on the part of Iranians from officials to the man in the street," said the most recent cable.

The Penn State team, customarily one of the best college soccer teams in the east, was invited for a series of games by the Iranian Athletic association. Transportation was provided by an anonymous donor. Soccer is Iran's national sport.

When they arrived at Isfahan March 25 for their first game, 500 cheering Iranians met them at the airport. Throngs crowded the K sidewalks waving and cheering as their bus moved to their hotel. A truck preceded the bus, broadcasting from a loudspeaker, announcing the Americans' arrival.

Gen. Amanollah Jehanbani, president of the National Physical Education association, in presenting the gifts said he hoped "This is only the beginning of further contacts and strengthening of friendly relations between Iran and the United States."

"Maybe what we need most over there," commented a Washington diplomatic official, "is more soccer players."

Big Links Of Georgia National Waiting To Whip Those Masters

By STERLING SLAPPEY
AUGUSTA, Ga. — (AP) — Three score golfers take a dare at the Augusta national tomorrow — a dare to whip the golf course which usually whips them.

The Masters tournament starts at 11 a. m. (EST) on the big and innocent looking national course waiting outside its 97-year old clubhouse for this selected field of players.

This is the 6,900-yards of rolling, pitching fairways and broad and slick greens where ego goes down as scores go up. Eight hundred golfers have played in 14 other Masters and only 67 beaten par over the four-round route. Ralph Guldahl and Claude Harmon have done better than any others—two 279's.

Par is balanced, 36 on the front nine, 36 on the back for 72 and for 288 for four rounds.

The best in golf is here, just as it always is: Jim Ferrier, Sam Snead, Ben Hogan, Jimmy Demaret, Lloyd Mangrum and the others who play the weekly tournaments. To the Masters has come the luster of amateurism—the entire Walker cup team. And also here are Roberto de Vicenzo and Juan Segura of Argentina and Bill Mahwinney of Canada, for a touch of internationalism.

Here from another era are Johnny Revolta, Denny Shute, Horton Smith, Henry Picard, Byron Nelson and George von Elm, a champion each in his time. Today they are among the elder statesmen of golf.

Tigers Head North For Change In Luck

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Detroit Tigers headed north today hopeful that new scenery would change fortunes that sank to a low ebb in the Florida training season.

Their record of four victories and 12 defeats in exhibition games made them look more like a second division club than the one that was runnerup in the 1950 American league race.

The Tigers took their 12th loss at St. Petersburg yesterday. The St. Louis Cardinals whipped them 8-6 in a raggedly played game that closed the Florida schedule for both clubs.

Trucks Lack Control
Virgil (Fire) Trucks, the Tigers' big righthander, started the game. He still appeared to be on the comeback road in spite of the lack of control he showed in his second start of the season. Tiger hopes were still buoyed by the fact Trucks' sore arm seemed to have mended.

Trucks cut loose with his fast ball, without apparent discomfort, and freezed through the first three innings, allowing only two hits. He was taken out in the fourth when he walked five of six batters. But even so, he showed good promise for the future. He just missed the corners as he put everything he had into the pitches. He threw harder than at any time since he injured his arm last May.

Saul Rogovin, who relieved Trucks, was charged with the loss although he pitched well in the three and two-third innings he worked. He was victim of three unearned runs. He didn't walk a batter and gave up only three hits.

The Tigers hammered George Munger for all six runs on seven hits before Al Brazle stopped them the last five innings on three singles.

Trucks' wild streak gave the Cards five runs in their half of the fourth.

A double error by shortstop Johnny Lipon in the seventh gave the game to the Cards.

Lipon Misses Bag
Eddie Kazak, Card infielder, singled and Red Schoendienst hit to Lipon, who tried for a double play by taking the play at second himself. But he missed the bag and then threw wild to first, permitting the runners to advance to scoring position.

Peanuts Lowrey singled both home and later scored on a long fly.

The Tigers started the scoring in the second inning. Hoot Evers doubled. Johnny Groth walked and Lipon singled Evers home. Groth scored as Aaron Robinson hit into a double play.

The Tigers added four more runs in the fourth. Evers walked, Lipon doubled and Robinson drew a pass. Then Trucks doubled and Neil Berry singled.

In spite of the poor showing in Florida, the Tigers are in good shape physically, Manager Red Rolfe declared.

"Everybody is all right except

Jack Kramer Comes Through For Giants With Flying Colors

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Handsome Jack Kramer, tempestuous righthander of the New York Giants, confronted with a "pitch or else" ultimatum, has come through with flying colors.

Kramer, who reported late after a prolonged holdout, was told the other day by Manager Leo Durocher to start pitching if he wanted to stick with the Giants.

The New Orleans veteran met the challenge with a brilliant performance yesterday in Mobile, Ala., as the Giants shaded the Boston Braves, 10-8. Kramer allowed only one hit and no runs in five innings. He walked four and fanned three.

Dickson Beats Cubs
Meanwhile, another veteran righthander, little Murry Dickson, also turned in a neat job in Grapefruit league play yesterday. Dickson, who a few years ago tossed a no-hit no-run game for the Cards against the Yanks, pitched Pittsburgh to a 1-0 three-hit victory over the Chicago Cubs at Houston, Tex.

The Pirates scored in the fifth inning without a hit. Wally Welke walked, stole second, moved to third on a passed ball and counted on George Strickland's fly ball. Omar Lown and Dutch Leonard limited the Pirates to two safeties.

Mike Garcia, hefty righthander of the Cleveland Indians, went the route as the Indians turned back the New York Yankees, 6-3, at Tucson, Ariz. Garcia permitted nine hits. One was a two-run homer by Yogi Berra. Luke Easter paced the Indians' 12-hit attack with a single, double and triple.

Cards Edge Detroit
The St. Louis Cardinals won a 3-6 decision over the Detroit Tigers at St. Petersburg, Fla. The Cards wrapped it up with three runs in the seventh inning with the aid of a double error by Shortstop Johnny Lipon.

Washington won a free-hitting 16-15 victory from the Cincinnati Reds at Leesburg, Fla. The Nats scored seven runs in the first inning and were never headed. The Reds scored five in the ninth but Ed Kluszewski, who had punched out four straight hits, grounded out to end the rally. Bob Usher drove in seven runs on a pair of homers for the Reds.

The Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Atlanta Crackers, 8-6 at Atlanta, Ga., winning out in the tenth inning on a hit by Billy Hitchcock.

In other games, the St. Louis Browns snapped their 11-game losing streak by downing San Antonio, 4-1, behind three-hit pitching of Ned Garver and Duane Pillette; Beaumont nipped the Chicago White Sox, 6-5, with two runs in the ninth and Dick Sisler's two-run homer in the 11th inning gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 5-3 victory over Brooklyn.

Lawmakers Put Curb On UM-TV

Senate Bill Aimed At Exclusive Program

LANSING — (AP) — The University of Michigan and other state institutions would be forbidden to sell exclusive television rights to football games and other sporting events under the provisions of a bill passed by the Senate yesterday.

The measure provides that television contracts for any event made by state institutions must include free reception rights by the general public.

Senator Harold M. Ryan (D-Detroit), sponsor of the measure, said it was aimed expressly at the University of Michigan.

"Last year the university piped a television broadcast into a Detroit theater and charged a $2.50 top to viewers," Ryan said. "That left the little fellow with the television set, the fellow who pays taxes to help support the university, out in the cold."

Ryan said he had heard talk that the university was thinking of selling its football television rights under a setup where each seat owner would have to pay a fee for the game—through a coin operated device or through a charge by the telephone company.

"Tickets to the football games are hard enough to get now," Ryan said. "I don't think a state-supported university should be allowed to make any extra charges for its football games."

Statistics today showed that the 6-foot-4-inch, 190-pound star averaged 29.2 points in 25 games in the past season, breaking Ernie Calverly's 1944 record of 26.7.

Moreover, the "owl" without the vowel broke another record when he made 312 field goals to surpass Chet Ciermak's two-year-old collegiate mark of 301.

Titus, who came here from Peshtigo, said he preferred returning to a smaller school in Wisconsin where he might coach both football and basketball.

Hockey Playoff Series Evened

Detroit And Montreal Upset Old Form

MONTREAL — (AP) — Form has taken a shellacking in the Montreal-Detroit Stanley cup playoff series.

Four games have been played so far—and the home teams have lost on each occasion.

Montreal surprised the hockey world by whipping the Red Wings in the first two games on Detroit ice. But the Wings, showing why they're champions, rebounded to even the series on Montreal ice.

The hard-skating Detroiters whipped Montreal, 4-1, last night on the Montreal forum. The unpredictable best-of-seven series resumes at Detroit Thursday. The next game is at Montreal Saturday with the final at Detroit Sunday.

In last night's contest, it was Detroit all the way. The Wings struck for two goals in the opening period and for two more in the finale to meet more than offset Montreal's solitary second-period marker by Elmer Lach.

Leo Reise, Metro Prystai, Gerry Couture and Sid Abel counted for the Wings.

Some 14,500 fans witnessed the game that was a rough-tough affair. Detroit had 28 shots on Gerry McNeil and the Canadiens had 23 on Terry Sawchuk.

In the other semi-final series, Toronto beat Boston, 3-1, to take a 2-1 lead.

Hutson And Oosterbaan Selected As Ends On AP All-Time Team

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — (AP) — One of them now is coach at his Alma Mater, Michigan. The other is an automobile dealer at Green Bay, Wis. The names are Bennie Oosterbaan and Don Hutson—names that will linger in the minds of football fans as long as there is football.

Hutson, the sensational pass-catching end at Alabama and later the professional Green Bay Packers, and Oosterbaan, one of Michigan's greatest athletes, have been chosen ends on the Associated Press all-time All America team.

Ambitions Realized
Oosterbaan and Hutson thus qualify for top consideration for election to the football hall of fame, which is planned for Rutgers University where the first game was played in 1869.

"I'm delighted with the honor," said Oosterbaan when told of the selection at Ann Arbor, where he is head football coach of the Michigan Wolverines.

Hutson expressed the same sentiments when advised of the all-time balloting conducted in a nationwide poll of sports writers and sportscasters by the AP in conjunction with the Hall of Fame. He was assistant coach after his playing days at Green Bay until 1948.

"When I was at Alabama from 1931 to 1935," said Hutson, "there were two things I wanted very much—to be all America and to play in the Rose bowl. There weren't a lot of bowl games then."

He realized both ambitions in the 1934 seasons.

Old Thrills Recalled
Oosterbaan can tell about the Rose bowl. In his last two seasons his teams have won two big Ten titles, and Michigan beat California last Jan. 1 in the Rose bowl, 14-6.

Oosterbaan recalled a "distinct thrill" of almost single handedly defeating Ohio State, 21-0, in the 1927 game dedicating Michigan's 97,238-seat stadium. Also his part in the 7-6 win over Minnesota for the 1926 conference crown.

"I'll never forget throwing three touchdown passes when I was a senior in that Ohio State game," he said.

"But, I think my fondest recollection is scooping up that tumble against Minnesota when we trailed 0-6." He scampered 57 yards for the touchdown that won the game.

The Michigan All America of 1925 and 1927 is a native of Muskegon, Mich., and was a nine-letter man in college.

He rejected professional football offers and became an aide to Fielding H. Yost, the late coach at Michigan. Four and a half years ago he became the No. 1 assistant and backfield coach to Fritz Crisler. When Crisler became athletic director two years ago, Bennie moved up to head coach.

Set Plenty Records
When Hutson left Alabama, however, he moved on to Green Bay and set all sorts of national football league records in nine years of stardom.

Now lean, tanned and 38, Hutson says something should be done to take the pressure off coaches.

"There is too much emphasis on winning every single game. If a team drops one game some people want to drop the coach, too. That isn't healthy."

Hutson received 629 points in the poll for ends, Oosterbaan got 349 to beat out Frank Hinkley, Yale All America of the early 1890's and California's great brick Muller, 1922 All America. They were named to the second team.

On the third team are Wes Fesler, Ohio State All America of 1929-30, and Leon Hart, Notre Dame's 1949 All America.

Lions Get Breaks In Home Schedule
DETROIT — (AP) — The Detroit Lions of the National Football league got about everything they asked in arranging their home schedule for the 1951 season.

The schedule makers agreed to giving them home games as early in the season as possible and also a home game on Thanksgiving.

The 1951 home schedule, announced today, will bring the Green Bay Packers here on Thanksgiving day.

The Washington Redskins of the league's American conference will appear here Sept. 30. The Washington team last appeared here in 1947 when the Lions beat the Redskins 38-21. That was the only time the Lions have beaten Washington in their eight-game series.

The home schedule follows:
Sept. 30, Washington Redskins; Oct. 14, Los Angeles Rams; Oct. 21, New York Yanks; Oct. 28, Chicago Bears; Nov. 22, Green Bay Packers; and Dec. 2, San Francisco 49ers.

All the teams, with the exception of Washington, are in the league's national conference with Detroit.

Games away from home will be announced later.

Limping Yanks Have Parcel Of Injuries

By GAYLE TALBOT
TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Doctor Casey Stengel is holding his New York Yankees together with baling wire and sticking plaster (again!) as the world champions start limping back north to open the season in less than two weeks.

A series of new injuries without in the past few days, added to several others that have plagued the club all spring, forced Casey to play a line-up against Cleveland here yesterday which would have difficulty finishing in the American league's second division.

Casey is becoming worried and admits he is in for trouble unless there are a few recoveries before opening day. He says he had planned to have his starting team ready to go by this coming Saturday, but had abandoned hope of that now.

Plays With Cracked Rib
"What makes it worse," he lamented, "is that these kids get hurt and don't tell me about it so I could get them out of there. Then they start running and throwing again too soon."

He had particular reference to third-baseman Billy Johnson, who fractured a rib in an early inning of a game the other day but said nothing about it and played out the contest. Now he is out for at least two weeks.

Gil McDougald, Johnson's understudy at third, was laid up with a bad ankle yesterday, with the result that the third sacker who faced the Indians was Gene Markland, who will not even stay with the club.

Little Phil Rizzuto has a badly pulled muscle in his left side and could be out for some time. The side is strapped up and he is taking special treatments. So it has been necessary to move Gerry Coleman over to shortstop, and the Yankees' second baseman yesterday was one Jerry Snyder.

Mickey Mantle, the wonder rookie, has come up with a sore thumb which threatens to give him serious trouble. The thumb swells to nearly twice its normal size after he has batted left-handed, the result, apparently, of a faulty follow-through.

Reynolds Arm Sore
To continue with the casualty list, pitcher Allie Reynolds still is having trouble with his salary arm, around the elbow, and there is no indication when he will be ready for a starting assignment. It gets better for a day or two, then becomes sore again. The club can't win a flag without the sturdy Indian.

Gene Woodling, alternate outfielder, has been able to play only at rare intervals because of a painful insect. Likewise first baseman Johnny Mize, who has a troublesome side.

Joe DiMaggio has reported no particular ache or pain. It is just that the wonderful Clipper finds it takes him increasingly longer to get into playing condition, and he looks far from ready at this stage. His left heel, which was operated upon last year, still looks slightly inflamed, and those who have seen it admire Joe even more than they did before.

Simmons Ends 26-Year Career

Indian Coach Folded Up By Illness

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Illness halted Al Simmons' 26 consecutive years as a major league baseball today.

Now a coach with the Cleveland Indians, Simmons, with tears in his eyes, told Manager Al Lopez that he just couldn't continue. Lopez asked him to wait awhile before making his decision.

Simmons said no.

"The Indians have been fair to me, and I want to play fair with them," he said. "I can't help you any longer. I'm going home to see my doctor in Milwaukee and find out what's wrong with me. I'm finished for this year."

Packs Up Uniform
Thus for the first time since 1924 Al Simmons is packing away his big league uniform.

Manager Lopez said that he would shift Jake Flowers to the third base coaching spot and Mel Harder to first. He said he would ask the Cleveland management to get him another coach to help out in the bull pen.

"The Indians have been fair to me, and I want to play fair with them," he said. "I can't help you any longer. I'm going home to see my doctor in Milwaukee and find out what's wrong with me. I'm finished for this year."

It is expected that Charles (Red) Ruffing, now the Tribe's roving coach, will be brought up to the Indians to fill the vacancy left by Simmons' retirement.

If no new coach is appointed Lopez will take over the third base coaching and Flowers will remain at first. "That way I can talk things over with the fellows and help them," he said.

Weakened By Diet
Simmons was ill last summer and he has been weakened by dieting trying to get in condition.

The great hitter joined the Indians in the winter of 1950 and coached third base for Lou Boudreau. Hank Greenberg called Simmons the best third base coach in baseball.

As a player Simmons compiled a lifetime average at the plate of .334—led the junior loop hitters twice and was voted the league's most valuable player in 1929 when he was with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Young Track Worker Saves 16 Greyhounds As 54 Die In Blaze

SARASOTA, Fla. — (AP) — Wilford Schwartz, young employee of the Sarasota Kennel club, saved 16 racing greyhounds from a fire that killed 54 dogs at the track yesterday.

Schwartz got another 24 dogs out of the burning kennels but they ran back into the flames in panic. The young track worker was burned on the arms and legs, but was not seriously hurt.

Inland Steel Outlook Bright, Report Shows

Expansion of steel making capacity in the United States exceeded 4,500,000 tons in 1950, largest in any year since the World War I spurt in 1915, and current growth is twice the 1950 rate, Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Company, said in the company's annual report issued yesterday.

Present plans of steel companies, including a 20 per cent expansion currently underway by Inland, promise an annual ingot steel capacity of 120,000,000 tons by 1953, the officials pointed out. This would make available 30,000,000 tons a year more than was produced here in 1944, peak year of World War II.

Steel Demand Greater

Demand for steel has been greater than production capacity since the steel strike of October, 1949, the report said in reviewing operations. Production in 1950, surpassing all previous records, permitted an all-time high in home construction and in the manufacture of automobiles, household appliances, and similar consumer goods.

Even with high level activities of consuming industries, it appeared in the spring of 1950 that production might be catching up with demand, but this situation was reversed with the outbreak of the Korean war, the report said.

Approximately one-third of Inland's current record-breaking output is going for defense purposes, the report stated, adding that the percentage may rise in the months ahead.

$7.76 Per Share

Inland reported record sales and shipments in 1950. Net income was $38,015,676 or $7.76 a share on 4,899,315 shares, as compared with $25,013,707 or $5.11 a share in 1949 and only less than the record $38,606,898 or $7.88 a share in 1948 because of higher taxes and a $6,200,000 inventory adjustment.

Shipments in 1950, augmented by a record 463,690 tons of "conversion" products rolled for customers from their own raw or semi-finished steel, were 3,318,149 tons, 22 per cent more than in 1949 and 13 per cent more than the World War II peak of 2,913,173 set in 1944.

Built "Wilfred Sykes"

Major expansions by Inland in 1950 included a new preparation plant at the company's coal mines, a new battery of 65 coke ovens, the ore carrier "Wilfred Sykes," enlargement of tin plate capacity and expansion in iron ore reserves. At the same time steel-making capacity was lifted from 3,400,000 tons annually to 3,750,000 tons. A new open hearth shop now under construction and enlargement of existing furnaces will bring capacity to 4,500,000 by early next year.

Company officials said that Inland is adequately protected in reserves for the "distant" future.

The company's own mines and those in which it holds stock interests supplied 85 per cent of 1950 requirements, officials said. Only 15 per cent was purchased in the open market.
